STACKED CUBES

Our cube stacks provide a very versatile signage option for promoting sponsors, reinforcing your brand, or delivering event information. For example, stack two or three cubes with their sides flush to create a dramatic column of information. Or, rotate them off axis from one another to create additional visual interest. As another option, use two stacks of three cubes to create a bold entrance to your general session. Then, change out some of the sides of the cubes and create three stacks of two cubes to designate breakout room or special event areas at different times during your event. The sides of the cubes are attached to a lightweight metal frame using magnetic strips; repositioning the cubes and changing side panels is very easy.
